WELCOME

It is a great pleasure for my team and I to once again look forward to hosting the Bahrain International Airshow's 2022 edition. With a momentum that perhaps has never been as high, we are planning a show that builds on a successful track record while giving impetus to the industry's recovery and renewal.

Our show is at the heart of one of the world's fastest-growing aerospace markets; with a surge of aviation infrastructure investment having taken place in recent years, including most notably, the new Passenger Terminal at the Bahrain International Airport, which started operation in January 2021.

This, coupled with our location as the gateway to the Gulf, makes the Bahrain International Airshow a strategic event on the aerospace calendar.

With ongoing patronage from His Majesty the King, BIAS 2022 is once again a collaborative effort between the Bahrain Ministry of Transportation and Telecommunications; the Royal Bahraini Air Force, and in association with Farnborough International, all of whom work closely with our partners and sponsors around the world to create an event that reflects industry demands and delivers success. The 2022 Bahrain International Airshow is a valuable, high-quality and unmissable opportunity to network, find new solutions and leverage opportunities. I hope you will join us in Bahrain and look forward to welcoming you.

Connectivity is at the key of Bahrain's economy, and the 2022 Bahrain International Airshow is back to connect the world to the Gulf region.

We have taken advantage of the past couple of years to vastly improve the Bahrain International Airshow's quality and value in line with our goal of delivering a business-conducive five-star environment in which to connect the global and regional aerospace industry. We have a fully refurbished set of chalets that has proceeded as planned as part of a major capital investment project. On a national level, Bahrain has remained open for business, with no better example than the start of operations at our new Passenger Terminal building at the airport in early 2021. This US$ 1.1 billion project has now entered its second phase as Bahrain continues to assert itself as one of the Middle East's fastest-growing economies complemented by major investment in aviation infrastructure projects and a forward-thinking approach to attracting international business.

Our show has welcomed over 70% of the top global aerospace companies in previous years, and we are looking forward to welcoming more companies to a show which aims to provide you with a boutique feel and a value-added business platform in a country that prides itself for its hospitality.

We look forward to hosting you at the 2022 Bahrain International Airshow, now with more than a decade of success and a team that is ever more committed to delivering value to the global aviation industry.

EXHIBITION FEATURE HALL

The Exhibition Hall has continuously developed and is now an invaluable element of the show. Introduced in 2014, the Hall has grown in size across 2016 and the 2018 show saw the exhibition space increase by 100%.

Located in the airbase's main hangar, the exhibition hall creates an ideal platform for exhibiting businesses from across the world to showcase their latest products and offer insight into their services. At the 2018 Airshow, the exhibition hosted 79 companies from 16 countries creating an environment for networking and product showcasing amongst international businesses and trade visitors.

For 2022, the site has been re-designed to direct all visitors to the exhibition hall. The new look will see visitors enter through the exhibition hall, giving a better visitor experience and a higher footfall for exhibitors.

OUTDOOR EXHIBITION SPACE

BIAS has extensive outdoor exhibition space available that can be used to showcase business ventures, projects and large equipment, as well as aircraft.

We can cater for a variety of business needs with tailored outdoor exhibition packages. Speak with a member of the BIAS Sales team who will be happy to put together a proposal built on your specifications.

AIRCRAFT

The Bahrain International Airshow offers one of the most extensive aircraft displays across the entire airshow calendar.

The Sakhir Airbase has been purpose-built to host aircraft of all sizes across both the static and flying display. The flexibility of the site even enables aircraft in the static park to participate in the daily flying displays.

Our flight operations team is able to accommodate the very largest of aircraft and are able to cater to most display requirements; all to aid our exhibitors during any potential sales discussions. The Sakhir Airbase has been built to allow BIAS to run an exciting, entertaining and diverse aerial display, featuring the biggest and latest military jets, aerobatic display teams and commercial aircraft.
